

Welcome to the December Edition of Sealine News.

SEALINE TO LAUNCH NEW CONVERTIBLE SPORTS CRUISER AT LONDON BOAT SHOW (5TH - 14TH JANUARY)

Sealine International will be unveiling the new SC38 convertible sports cruiser at the forthcoming London Boat Show. This practical and stylish model represents the latest design direction for the company. Light and spacious, with a distinctive new skylight in the saloon, the SC38 has Sealine's unique convertible roof system.

The roof system, developed from the principles of the award winning SC29, provides enormous flexibility. This system is quick and easy to use, and very simple to move from 'wind in the hair' boating to a protected space.

For the more adventurous customer a striking yet sophisticated two tone hull is available: metallic blue and grey have been selected from the Sealine corporate colour pallet. On the coach roof there is a teak walkway around the recessed sunbed - a unique safety feature first introduced on the T60.

The cockpit is light and spacious and features new Sunbrella fabrics on the seating, which will complement the colour of the teak cockpit flooring.

The exterior and cockpit finishes have been matched by some equally striking interior finishes. American black walnut has been used throughout combined with natural woven carpets, modern upholstery fabrics and soft head linings.

The interior space is filled with light. In the saloon there is an innovative full width flush mounted skylight integrated into the deck and saloon headlining - a first for this type of boat.

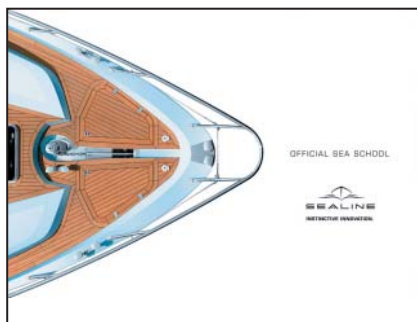

The hull offers a very stable and comfortable ride with proven performance in varying sea conditions. Four engine options are available from the Volvo D4 -225/DP @225hp to the Volvo D6350/DP @350hp.

WHERE TO FIND SEALINE THIS MONTH ...

5th - 14th January: "London Boat Show" London, England. For info contact: info@sealine.com

20th - 27th January: "Boot Dusseldorf" Dusseldorf, Germany. For info contact: info@sealine.com

SEALINE OFFICIAL SEA SCHOOL PRESENT AT LONDON BOAT SHOW

Richard Corbett, Sealine's Official Sea School Principal will be available at this year's London Boat Show to answer queries, and offer advice on the range of RYA and bespoke training courses provided by the School.

The Sea School, which has recently relocated to Saxon Wharf in Southampton, provides training for complete motor cruising beginners right through to experienced skippers. The School's close association with the RYA means that the RYA scheme of structured courses are followed, allowing people the opportunity to progress right up to Yachtmaster - the pinnacle of leisure boating qualifications.

Bespoke training courses are ideally suited to mariners who want to take training on specific areas of boating, but using their own boats in their own marinas.

The Sea School's own training vessel - 'Alpha' is a modern, well equipped Sealine F42/5 flybridge motor cruiser. At 42 feet she is the perfect size for training, big enough for people looking to buy larger boats and yet so easy to handle for those who are learning for the very first time. 'Alpha' has twin diesel engines on shafts, a bow and stern thruster, the latest navigation equipment and spacious, comfortable accommodation, all adding to the relaxed and gentle learning be skilled and confident when out on the water.

For more information visit Richard at the Sealine stand, S360, from 5th-14th January at ExCeL.

SEALINE PRESENT AT DUSSELDORF BOAT SHOW

From 20th - 27th January 2007, Sealine International will exhibit at the Dusseldorf Boat Show. Following on from the launch of the SC38 at the London show, visitors will be able to see the boat at Dusseldorf, as well as boats from the Sealine model line up including the SC29, flybridge cruisers such as the F42/5, and the flagship T60.

The show is open from 10am - 6pm. Sealine will be exhibiting in Hall 15, stand number 15F05, and in Hall 6, stand number 6A62. For more information visit www.boot.de

GRAND DESIGNS

(Above: Carsten Astheimer (left) with Russell Gillott)

The SC38, launched at this year's London Boat Show, represents Sealine's latest design direction – ergonomic and contemporary yet also offering form and functionality. Carsten Astheimer, who recently joined the design team as Design Director of Sealine, shares his thoughts and inspirations for the new model.

Carsten was interested in a design career from a very early age. His aspirations led him to work until recently for Pininfarina in Italy whose customers include Ferrari, Samsung and Ray Ban.

Carsten explains, "The SC38 builds on the core product strengths of Sealine. It represents a new direction yet is an evolution of where we are currently. The concept for a 38ft sports convertible cruiser stems from an intention to build on the success of the SC29. The SC38 will be a 'bigger brother' to the SC29 yet complement it and enhance the product range."

The SC38 includes a convertible roof which was a highly successful feature on the SC29, and an industry first saloon skylight. Carsten explains, "The convertible roof system is a strong Sealine characteristic. This is our solution for providing shade and a very efficient, ergonomic way of offering complete openness when required. The saloon skylight is very dramatic, and increased light openings throughout the boat generate a feeling of light and space."

He adds, "At first glance the boat is very striking. The dark grey metallic hull and Sealine metallic blue gives the SC38 real personality and sense of purpose. The black and washed walnut in the interior for example create a contrast and a feeling of space; the natural wool carpet, sofa and wall linings in the dinette are contemporary, yet understanding of our customer needs."

Read the full article in the latest copy of Sealine's Instinct magazine. To subscribe to receive your copy of the magazine, visit www.sealine.com and follow the Instinct Magazine link on the home page.