

New T50 to launch at Southampton Boat Show 2005

Adding a new dimension to the T-series, Sealine International is excited to announce that we will be unveiling our latest luxury motor yacht – the T50 – at the forthcoming Southampton Boat Show.

Replacing the award winning T47, the T50 assumes the sophisticated style and clean lines of the T60, sharing the slanted stainless portholes and forward facing radar arch made popular by the flagship. However, while drawing on innovations from across our Sealine range, such as SECS (Sealine Extended Cockpit System), the new 'fifty footer' will also introduce some unique developments of its own.

Most prominent of all is the T50's state-of-the-art new hull created by leading designer Ocke Mannerfelt and our in-house design team. Our second collaboration with Ocke, (the first of which culminated in the highly successful S29) offers a unique approach to improving performance by encouraging greater interaction between the propellers and the water flow. Improving propeller efficiency and reducing water resistance produces a smoother, stable ride, and when combined with the engine options available, the T50 is expected to offer top speeds of around 30 to 33 knots.

Refinement and spaciousness are the key features of this luxurious flybridge cruiser which strives to maximise functionality without compromising the light and airy feel.

There is a full beam master cabin, equal status guest accommodation, a third Pullman cabin and crew quarters in the lazarette, along with two very large separate toilet and shower compartments. The generous saloon has a distinctive raised seating and entertaining area with more than 6ft 6ins of headroom and is flooded with light by additional sunroofs and a deck hatch located directly above the saloon table.

There is a centrally located galley and bar both on deck and in the dining area, and the flybridge is ideally suited for entertaining friends and family with a U-shaped seating area and full range of amenities including a barbecue grill and wet bar. The addition of simple design features, such as the opening deck hatch located in the centre of the flybridge; contribute to making the boat feel infinitely more sociable for passengers.

Complete with an exclusive range of fabrics and furnishings, the T50 uses materials such as Corian® worktops, Wenge wood flooring, and pear wood furniture to ensure premium quality down to the finest details.

Patrik von Sydow, Managing Director of Sealine International Ltd, comments on Sealine's latest addition to the market. "This represents another step forward for Sealine International Ltd, combining new levels of functionality with refined styling. The T50 is the culmination of strengths found across the Sealine range, with the addition of unique features to address customer demands, which remains the key driver in our product development."

Along with the new T50, we will be exhibiting our full range of boats at the Southampton boat show, 16 - 25th September. The display will include the S25, S29/SC29, S38, S34 Sports Cruisers, the F42/5, F37, F34 Flybridge Motor Cruisers, C39 Coupe, and T60 and T52 motor yachts. Visit us at berths #170 - 176, & 221 - 226.

Sealine makes waves in Spain filming new range photography & DVD

Amidst the breathtaking Balearics islands off Spain, Sealine took to the water with a range of sports boats, flybridge cruisers, and luxury motor yachts to capture each model in action for our soon-to-be released DVD and new range of photography.

Aerial views from a helicopter circling above provided exhilarating footage of the boats performing their best at top running speeds and turning dramatically in the water, and simultaneously provided an exciting show for spectators nearby.

The week-long shoot took place in Alcudia, Mallorca, and provided a perfect backdrop to compliment the boats. Making the most of the area's natural combination of clear blue sea, sandy shores, and rugged rocky cliff lines, the shoot was completed successfully, and the results of which will soon be available for all to see in DVD format, and in our 2006 brochure (available at the Southampton boat show).
